

A : Such a pity that your project ended up in failure!

B : You can't undo what has been done. We have to look forward, because life will () () no matter what.

A : I had a bad dream last night.

B : What about?

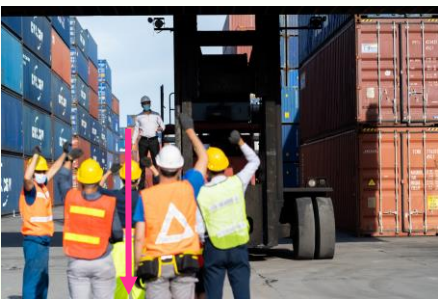

A : I was fighting fiercely against my archenemy. We were on the edge of a cliff, and he said, "If I () () , I will drag you down with me." We fell down screaming "Ahhhhh!" when I woke up sweating like hell.

A : Why is she so mature even though she's just a teenager?

B : She () () a lot when she was a little girl.

A : That means, after all, it is experience and not age itself, that makes you who you are.

A : Finally, the protestors are back to work.

B : Yes, everything is back to normal after long last.

A : But I feel really sad to learn that in the end the police were sent out to () () the strike.

A : Hi, Paul. It's been a while. How have you been?

B : I've been pretty good. Actually, I'm a song writer now. After university, I () () the career path as a song composer.

B is here

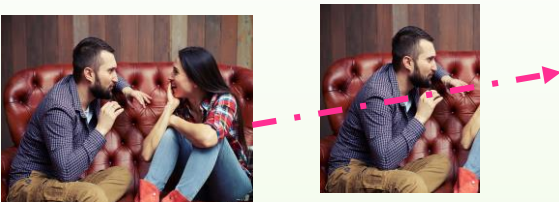

A : You can go to a shopping mall or do whatever you like, while I have my hair cut, OK?
 B : But I'm not in the mood to do anything like that.
 A : OK, then, why don't you () () to the station and wait for me there?

A : Can you () () this business proposal and tell me your honest opinion?
 B : Sure.

A : I see you've been sitting here reading for hours.
 B : Yeah, once I start reading a mystery book, I just couldn't () it () .

A : So, how has David been doing? Did you enjoy meeting him for the first time in a long time?
 B : He's been doing fine. He () () and () about his work. He's very pleased with his new job.

A : I'm telling you, you are () () ! I have evidence of you moving company money.
 B : You are bluffing.
 A : If you give back all you have taken right now and confess to the police yourself, I will ask them to go easy on you.

A : So, a four-ton truck will come to your place on the day you are going to move out, OK?

B : Sure. But I have to tell you one thing. There's a height limit to the gate.

Cars over the height of 2.2 meters cannot () () the gate.
Please bear that in mind.

A : Could you talk me through how to fill in this form?

B : No worries. It doesn't take much time. First, will you () your name () here?

A : Have you ever worried about the risk involved? Yours must be one of the most dangerous occupations of all.

B : Even if it's sometimes dangerous, I want to () () working as a police officer.

A : How come you made up your mind to get married to him? You didn't like him at all.

B : Everything changed in that single moment when he () () on one knee and proposed to me.

A : Why was that man set free? He was arrested upon the suspicion of holding drugs, right?

B : The police () () all his belongings but didn't find drugs.

A : Jenny and Craig are moving out. Moving to the city where Craig’s mother lives.

B : Are they going to live with his mother?

A : They are going to live in a separate house on their own. They () () a substantial amount of money to purchase the new house.

A : What a mess!?

What’s () () here!?

B : Well, as you can see, we’re just trying to test what would happen if we acted out our “brainstorm” on our desk instead of in our brains, which we normally do to no avail.

A : You always go with that beer, right? Is it popular here in Japan?

B : Yes, it is. This brand () () quite well with beer lovers.

A : How long do you think it will take to get the new policy approved by the committee?

B : It’s no matter of time. No matter how many meetings they have, the new policy will never () () .

A : I’m so stupid....

B : Wait! Don’t () yourself () like that!

A : But it always takes me longer to learn than others.

After university, I () () the career path as a song composer.

I'm telling you, you are ()
() ! I have evidence of you moving company money.

Can you () () this business proposal and tell me
your honest opinion?

() your weapon () !

As time () () ,
she grows taller.

This brand () ()
quite well with beer lovers.

Cars over the height of 2.2 meters cannot () () the gate.

Wait! Don't () yourself () like that!

Even if it's sometimes dangerous, I want to () () working as a police officer.

If I () () , I will drag you down with me.

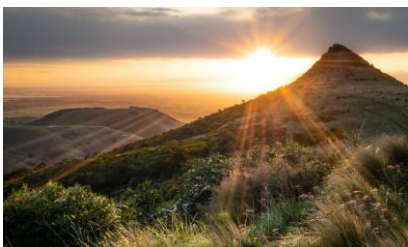

() () immigration.

Once I start reading a mystery book, I just couldn't () it () .

David () () and () about his work.

The sun is () () .

No matter how many meetings
they have, the new policy will never () () .

I feel really sad to learn that in the end the police were sent out to () () the strike.

We have to look forward, because life will () () no matter what.

Why don't you () ()
to the station and wait for me there?

She () () a lot when she was a little girl.

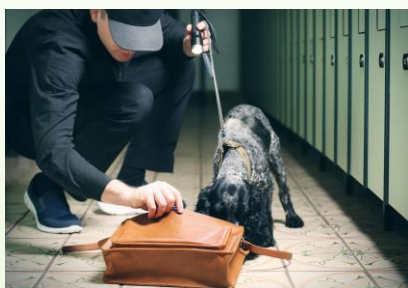

First, will you () your name () here?

What a mess!?
What's () () here!?

Everything changed in that single moment when he () () on one knee and proposed to me.

The police () () all his belongings but didn't find drugs.

Jenny and Craig () () a substantial amount of money to purchase the new house.